If a General Council member has signed a petition more than once, only one of the signatures will be verified and the remainder will not count toward the total required to authorize an election to consider a Recall, Initiative or Referendum.

(B) Compare the physical signature on the petition with the signature on the ballot envelope on file with Tribal Member Services.

(C) If the physical signature on the petition is different from the signature on the ballot envelope on file, or if there is no ballot envelope on file with the Tribal Records Management Department, the Election Board shall attempt to call the person listed in the petition. In this phone call the Election Board shall:

(1) Ask the person to verify their age, the spelling of their name and their Tribal membership.

(5) Make a written record of the telephone call and the person's responses.

(D) If after taking steps 2 and 3, above, the Election Board cannot confirm the identity of the person, the Election Board shall send a certified letter to the person at their last known address on file with the Tribal Member Services Department. This letter will request the person to contact the Election Board either telephonically or in writing to confirm their age, identity, Tribal member status and desire to sign the Petition. This letter will request a response within 30 days of its mailing.

(E) If the Election Board takes all of the above steps and still does not receive a response from the person it must treat the signature as unverified and the signature will not count toward the total required to authorize a Recall, Initiative or Referendum election.

CITC 194.300 – 194.320 govern the standards and procedures applicable to the eligibility of an Elected Person to serve on Tribal Council.

The results of these investigations will be shared only with Tribal Council members and employees or contracted persons whom are authorized to carry out official duties. The Tribal Council further declares that the requirement to remain free of criminal convictions described in Article VI, Section (6) of the Tribal Constitution continues throughout a person's term on Tribal Council.

194.320 Contesting Eligibility to Serve on Tribal Council under the Employment Prohibition

1. The Tribal Council, acting collectively through the Tribal Attorney (or designee of the Tribal Attorney) or individually, or any member of the General Council may contest the right of an Elected Person (as defined below) to serve on Tribal Council. For the purpose of this Ordinance, an “Elected Person” is a person who the Election Board has certified as the winner of a Tribal Council election and who has taken office to serve on Tribal Council. To contest the right of an Elected Person to serve on Tribal Council, the Tribal Attorney (or designee), or any member of the General Council may file a Petition for Declaratory Judgment and Injunctive Relief (“Petition”) in the Coquille Indian Tribal Court (the “Tribal Court”). Such a Petition must specifically allege the grounds for an Elected Person’s ineligibility to serve on Tribal Council and must request the following relief:

(A) declaring an Elected Person to be disqualified from service as a Tribal Council member under Article VI, Section (4)(a) of the Tribal Constitution,

(B) enjoining the Elected Person's service on Tribal Council and declaring the Tribal Council position at issue to be temporarily open and unfilled, and

(C) declaring the Tribal Council position at issue to be temporarily open and unfilled and preliminarily enjoining the Elected Person's service on Tribal Council, pending the outcome of the litigation.

2. Except as otherwise provided in CIRC 194.300-194.320, the Tribal Court will apply CIRC 610 and 620 to any Petition for Declaratory Judgment proceeding authorized under this Ordinance.

3. It is the Tribe's policy for proceedings filed under CIRC 194.320 to be resolved efficiently and in an expedited manner. The Tribal Court will expedite proceedings filed under CIRC 194.320, and for this purpose, the Tribal Court will have the authority to impose procedural time limitations and deadlines different from those listed elsewhere under Tribal law, including but not limited to discovery, motions, and hearings; provided, that nothing in this section authorizes the Tribal Court to alter the provisions of CIRC 620.200(e) ("Statute of Limitations for Suits Against Tribe or Tribal Entities").

4. If requested by a Petitioner or Intervenor, the Tribal Court may enter an Ex-Parte temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction enjoining an Elected Person from serving on Tribal Council until resolution of the Declaratory Judgment and Injunctive Relief proceeding. If the Tribal Court enters such a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, the Tribal Council position at issue will be deemed temporarily open and unfilled and remain open and unfilled until that order or injunction is dissolved. At its discretion the Court may make any order regarding benefits associated with Tribal Council membership for the Elected Person as is appropriate under the circumstances.

5. If the Tribal Court finds that an Elected Person is ineligible to serve on Tribal Council under the Employment Prohibition, the Court shall issue a Declaratory Judgment and Permanent Injunction enjoining that Elected Person from serving on the Tribal Council and declaring the position at issue open and unfilled. Provided, however, that such Declaratory Judgment and Permanent Injunction will become effective only after a ten calendar day waiting period ("Waiting Period").

(A) The purpose of the Waiting Period is to provide the Elected Person an opportunity to voluntarily resolve the conflict of interest (the "Conflict") by terminating the tribal administration office employment at issue.

(B) If, prior to the expiration of the Waiting Period, the Elected Person provides sufficient evidence to the Tribal Court demonstrating that he or she is no longer employed by the tribal administrative office the Tribal Court shall withdraw the Declaratory Judgment and Permanent Injunction, shall dissolve any temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, and dismiss the case without prejudice.

(C) If the Waiting Period expires with no resolution of the Conflict, the Declaratory Judgment and Permanent Injunction will immediately go into effect, and the Tribal Council vacancy will then be filled as provided under the Tribal Constitution.

Notwithstanding any provision of Tribal law, the Tribal Court may not award attorney fees, fines, compensation or damages for or against any party as a result of a proceeding brought pursuant to CITC 194.300 - 320.
